

Chris Heath from Heath Research Services successfully tendered and won a role as technical writer for the production of several National Environmental Monitoring Standards.

Chris has subsequently provided invaluable support to the National Environmental Monitoring Standards steering group in this role, culminating in the finalisation of several National Environmental Monitoring Standards available online.

Chris is amenable and innovative and has added good structure and process to obtaining a high quality output from a large and diverse group of leading experts in environmental monitoring.

Rob Christie
Principal Scientist
Hawke's Bay Regional Council
